

DAY LAW UPHELD BY HIGHEST COURT

Coeducation of Races Not Permitted in Kentucky.

Famous Berea College Case Decided for Commonwealth by the Court of Appeals.

APPEAL TO UNITED STATES

Frankfort, Ky., June 13.—The court of appeals, in an opinion by Judge O'Rear, whole court sitting, Judge Barker dissenting, affirmed the Madison circuit court in the case of Berea college vs. commonwealth. The court holds constitutional the act of 1904 known as the Day law, prohibiting the co-education of colored and white children, and reverses as to section 4, which provides that colored and white children shall not be taught within twenty-five miles of each other. The court holds this limitation an unreasonable exercise of police power of the state.

The court says the new law does not violate the bill of rights or the fourteenth amendment of the federal constitution. The case will go on appeal to the United States supreme court.

Du Pont Successful.

Henry A. du Pont was last night decided upon for United States senator by the Republicans legislative caucus in Dover, Del. The legislature will vote for senator today and the election of Mr. du Pont is conceded.

Blanks was sitting on the rail guard on the platform just a few feet to the side of the Blue Front restaurant. He is said to have been drinking. Suddenly he began reeling and fell over backward. He alighted on his head and his neck was broken, death being instantaneous.

The body was recovered and taken to the morgue. Blanks was about 40 years old and little could be learned about him.

CITY OFFICIAL

Has to Pay Fine for Cow Found Roaming Streets.

The stock ordinance is being enforced to the very letter, and even city officials are not exempt. This morning in police court City Jailor Tom Everts was fined $5 and costs for a violation of the ordinance. His horse was arrested by the stock police for running at large in the city, and the popular city jailer had to pay the fine. The only other case in court this morning was against "one brindle heifer" which was found roaming the streets. The heifer was ordered sold Saturday morning at 10 o'clock at the market house.

FOR MANSLAUGHTER

Wealthy Brewer's Wife is Arrested in Sioux Falls.

Sioux Falls, S. D., June 13.—A sensation was caused here this afternoon by the arrest of Mrs. Moses Kaufman, wife of a wealthy brewer on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of Miss Agnes Polrels, who was employed as a domestic in the Kaufman home. The girl died several days ago and was buried at Parkton, her home town. It is alleged the girl died as the result of beatings administered by Mrs. Kaufman and that these beatings were due to Mrs. Kaufman's inability to control her temper.

Stomach Full of Nails.

Boston, Mass., June 13.—Albert Logan, a sleight-of-hand performer was operated on today and thirty-six ten-penny nails and a cobbler's needle taken from his stomach. He will probably recover. Among his tricks was a nail swallowing exhibition. Whenever he could do so without being detected he would conceal the nail in his mouth, and later, unseen, remove it, but thirty-six times, in order to make good, he had to let it go down. This was the case also with a cobbler's needle.

Strange Romance.

BECKHAM FORCES STATE PRIMARY

Senator McCreary and Ollie James Stay Away.

Curious Turn Given the Louisville Situation By Developments of Day.

JAMES OR BLACKBURN TO RUN

Louisville, June 13.—The Democratic state central committee went into session at the Old Inn.

Gov. Beckham and his friends were in complete control. The decision to hold a primary was reached with one dissenting vote, Norton Fitch, of the Eighth district, which is McCreary's home district, he being the only McCreary man on the committee.

After a brief discussion a resolution was passed calling for a primary election in November.

In this primary, to be held on the day of the November election, 1906, Democratic state officers, from governor down, to be voted for at the November, 1907, election will be selected. At the same time a Democratic nominee for the United States senate, to be voted for in 1908, will be selected.

Senator McCreary was conspicuous by his absence from the meeting. Although a resolution was adopted inviting him to appear before the committee, he did not go near the Old Inn, where it was holding its sessions.

McCreary and Ollie James are said to have been in conference with local allies. It is reported that either James or Blackburn will run for governor against Hager. This will not be decided until James has returned to Washington and held a conference with Blackburn.

The Beckham Slate.

The slate which Gov. Beckham and the administration will put in the field is now given as follows:

For United States Senator—J. C. W. Beckham, of Nelson.

For Governor—S. W. Hager, of Boyd.

For Lieutenant Governor—W. J. Gooch, of Kenton.

For Secretary of State—Morgan Chinn, of Mercer.

For Attorney General—Milton McLean, of Kenton.

For Auditor—H. V. McChesney, of Livingston county.

For Clerk of the Court of Appeals—Rufus Laffoon, of Hopkins.

For the rest of the offices the candidates will be permitted to fight it out.

Senator James B. McCreary arrived in Louisville at 11 o'clock in the morning over the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad in company with Congressman Ollie James, of the First district.

Senator McCreary was met at the depot by Mr. Bruce Haldeman and several others and was driven away in a carriage. He did not appear at the Old Inn, where the Democratic politicians are gathered, for several hours, and it is supposed that he was in conference elsewhere.

It is reported that Senator McCreary is trying hard to make local alliances with Col. Bennett H. Young his intimate friend, and it is well known that Col. Henry Watterson intensely dislikes Gov. Beckham, the opponent of Mr. McCreary.

Gov. Beckham is, however, serene under the opposition of Mr. Watterson, and is determined to have the primary this fall, no matter what Mr. Watterson says.

The Other Slate.

The fact that Congressman James came all the way from Washington with Senator McCreary gives rise to the belief that Mr. James will enter the race for governor as the McCreary candidate. Several managers of Mr. McCreary said that Mr. James would decide in the next twenty-four hours, but that he would probably make the race.

Morgan Chinn stated that he is a candidate for secretary of state. Mr. Chinn has been considered a candidate for auditor for some time, and his announcement that he has decided to run for secretary of state was one of the sensations of the morning.

When Hubert Vreeland was nominated for superintendent of agriculture he had the solid Louisville support. All the influence of the Beckham organization is behind Chinn, and if the Louisville politicians do not drop Vreeland they will antagonize the governor.

All sorts of queer politics are going on, and the Louisville crowd is at a loss to know where it stands. Whether it will finally line up for Beckham or McCreary, nobody knows.

All of the McCreary men admit that nothing can stop the calling of the primary for next November, and that the attempt of Mr. Watterson to stop this by an editorial warning has proved a dismal failure.

Committee to Arrange Primary. The following committee was appointed to make all the arrangements for the primary:

Lewis McQuown, state chairman.

Finley Fogg, Eleventh district.

Mott Ayres, First district.

W. P. Rouss, Sixth district.

G. W. Roark, Fourth district.

Norton Fitch, Eighth district.

This committee will decide on the entry fees for the primary, arrange for election officers and have complete charge of the primary. It will report back to the executive committee at a meeting to be held August 1.

Coin Testers in the Mint.

The adjusting of the coin is the most interesting part of the whole process. This requires a delicateness of touch which is more highly developed in woman than in man, and on account of her superior qualification in this respect, this department is in her charge. Here the coin is first "selected"—that is, pieces which show the slightest imperfection or roughness are thrown out; those which pass successfully through the skilled fingers are sent to the long tables, where another set of women weighs each one on delicate scales. If the coin is too heavy, a portion is filed off; if too light, it is thrown out, to be remelted.

Some of these women have become so expert as to handle a thousand pieces a day. The coins are next fed to the milling machines, this work also being done by women. The planchets are put into the instrument by means of a tube, and as they descend they are caught upon a revolving wheel and the edge is compressed and forced up.

At least 500 dimes can be milled in the short space of a minute. About eighty women are employed in these two rooms.—Leslie's Weekly.

Mankind Is Far-sighted.

Among the speakers at the session of the American Academy of Medicine at Philadelphia was Dr. Casey A. Wood of Chicago, who read a paper on "The Sanitary Regulation of the School Room with Reference to Vision." He said all mankind is born far-sighted and that our ancestors were far-sighted. With this truth in mind he came to school work with its demands on short range vision and gave figures as to lighting of schools, saying the space between a school and the next building should be double the height of the school building. The window space in any one room should be more than one-quarter of its floor space.

That Was Enough.

It is related by the Earl of Yarmouth that on one of his yachting cruises he took a great liking to an old sailor whose principal duty was to see that the paint everywhere was in first-class shape. One day the earl saw a jet of water shoot up from the sea.

"A whale," said the old sailor, and sure enough the great creature was seen in a minute.

"Did you ever see a sea serpent, Walker?" asked the earl.

The old fellow paused in his work and said:

"Yes, my lord, I saw one once. We had started home from Jamaica with a cargo of rum, and—"

"Go back to your painting," said his lordship.

Thought He Was Thin.

The wife of a certain wealthy statesman from the west is said to have always enjoyed her present luxurious state and prominence. Her friends are frequently much amused by her malapropos observations.

Once someone ventured to remark to her that Gen. So-and-So was certainly a bellicose man.

The western lady's eyes bulged with astonishment. "You don't tell me!" she exclaimed. "Of course, not having met him, I couldn't say. But I thought from his picture that he was very thin!" Harper's Weekly.

"You say your husband is a ran down?"

"Yes, doctor, he is a nervous wreck, and I am worried about him."

"H'm! lemme see your tongue."—Houston Post.

CLINGS TO PILOT AND SAVES LIFE

Wife and Child Caught by the Bridge Guards.

Miraculous Escape of Charles Boone and Family From Death Beneath Wheels.

ON THE TENNESSEE BRIDGE

Charles Boone and family, of Gilbertsville, Ky., were brought to Paducah yesterday afternoon at 4:39 o'clock and placed in the Illinois Central hospital for treatment for several bruises sustained in an accident at the Tennessee river bridge on the Illinois Central road Monday evening. The entire family was struck by a freight train.

Boone is watchman on the bridge for the road and rides to and from his work on a railroad velocipede. His wife and child accompanied him Monday evening. In the rattle of the machine over the rails the noise of an approaching freight train was drowned out and the party was struck before they were aware it was near. Mrs. Boone and the child were knocked over the side of the bridge but fortunately fell on the guards five feet below. Boone caught hold of the engine pilot and saved himself from being ground to death.

Mrs. Boone sustained several cuts on the head and all three are bruised. They will remain in the hospital here until entirely recovered.
